The University
HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION

THE LANDS OF THE ABOVE NAMED ASSOCIATION are situated in San Francisco and are eligibly and most desirably located adjoining the grounds purchased by the Presbyterian University Society, on which College buildings are to be at once erected. The site is less than thirty minutes ride from Montgomery street, lying just west or back of the lands of the South San Francisco Homestead and Railroad Association and the Bay View Park Almost within a stone's throw of ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

The tract will require little or no grading, there being scarcely a single lot in which it will not be found to build without any change of grade. It commands a Beautiful View of the Bay,

And its opposite shore, and has a soil of extreme richness. Splendid are the natural attractions of the spot that very many of the wealthy citizens of San Francisco have already purchased whole blocks in the same tract, and design building residences thereon.

The Rev. E. Thomas, D. D.,

Is President of the Association, Lester L. Robinson formerly Vice President of the Sacramento Railroad Company is the Treasurer, and Thomas B. Lewis, formerly of Portland Secretary.

Some 1,615 Lots each constitute a share, costing $315—paid in monthly installments of $10 each, after the first payment of $15 has been made.

Maps and books giving full information of the working of the Association can be obtained at the store of J. P. LEWIS & CO.

It is an easy and a cheap way for young men to procure property which will in a few years make them independent.

Andy Johnson's New Circle

Our Immaculate President has withdrawn from the stump, but he keeps talking. A few weeks ago he entertained a correspondent of the London Times, and later held a conclib with one of the editors of the New York Citizen. The first conversation was devoted to a studied misrepresentation of the American people and a scurrilous attack upon Congress. In the latter he enters into a crusade upon the holders of National securities. These "conversations" were intended for publication, and undoubtedly each correspondent was permitted to take down notes in short hand. We will attempt a summary of the conversation with the New York Citizen.

The President said the main issue looming up in the future is whether the Nation shall be paid. The President assumes his old plebian role, and affects to be a great enemy of aristocracies. He quotes the late slave aristocracy, with its three thousand millions of property, and insultingly compares it with the Federal bondholders—an aristocracy based on over two thousand five hundred millions of National securities held in the Northern States. The slave aristocracy has been destroyed and an aristocracy of National creditors has taken its place. In the language of the correspondent, "The aristocracy based on negro property disappears at the Southern end; but only to reappear in an oligarchy of bonds and National securities in the States which suppressed the rebellion." The President then proceeds to stab public faith in the credit of the Republic—to destroy confidence and lead off in favor of repudiation. The South is writhing in poverty, and the President envies the opulence and prosperity of the North. He talks like an agrarian leveler. He would rub out and commence anew, thus placing his sympathizing friends on a financial equality with the hateful Radicals. He refers to history and learnedly remarks that of all aristocracies that of mere wealth is the most odious, pompous and tyrannical. The demagogue thus appeals to the prejudices of the poor, and caters to the spirit of repudiation.

Our model President also quotes history to show that war debts are never paid. "The history of the world" says A. Johnson, "gives no example of a war debt that ever has been paid." This declaration in the connection it is made, ought to crown A. Johnson with everlasting infamy. It shows the animus of a deep dyed villain, and confirms the opinion in all honorable and honest minds that his impeachment would be a mild penalty. The war debt is held principally by Radicals, and opponents of "my policy," and A. Johnson, instead of confiscating rebel property, would encourage the repudiation of a debt created to suppress the rebellion and save the country from dissolution. Every man knows how the great National debt was created. The Government had to have money to carry on the war, or surrender on such terms for separation as the Confederacy might dictate. The men who advanced the gold contributed the sinews of war. If our people had sent the gold out of the country and refused to take the bonds of the Government, the rebellion would have been a success, and to-day we would have been called upon to pay taxes to meet our own war debts, as well as interest on the value of the negroes lost by the war. And Andrew Johnson favors the repudiation of this debt! Does this fact surprise anybody? We believe he would be willing the country should sink, if the Radicals were to go down with it.—Marysville Appeal.

FIGHT BETWEEN A RAT TERRIER AND A SWARM OF RATS.—THE DOG VANQUISHED AND DEVOURED.—We have to record a somewhat singular and almost incredible occurrence, which happened here recently, says the Milwaukee (Wis.) Sentinel. It was a terrific combat between a swarm of rats and their natural enemy, a black-and-tan terrier.

Near one of our grain warehouses, situated on the river bank, large swarms of rats have been in the habit of feasting on the wheat which has been scattered around. A few days since a black-and-tan terrier, getting wind of the rendezvous, made an attack upon a couple of rats that had ventured too far into the open air. Seizing one in his teeth he shook it vigorously. The rat squealed piteously, attracting to the spot a dozen or more companions. These, on seeing the situation of affairs, joined in raising the alarm. In less time than it takes to tell the incident, the ice around was black with a sword of rats, numbering several hundred. The terrier, after dispatching the first victim, charged into the swarm, with the evident determination of serving the remainder in like manner. But for once a terrier was doomed to meet with a fight from the poor animals he had so long devoured at pleasure, and in a trice he was surrounded on all sides by a swarm of ferocious brutes, anxious to be avenged for the death of their companion. Then ensued the most frightful scene imaginable.

The rats swarmed around their adversary and fastened their claws and teeth in his flesh. The dog, enraged by the pain, fought bravely, killing scores of his enemies in his contest for life, but the odds against him were too great, and after a sharp conflict, which lasted for about five minutes, he was forced to succumb. His body was literally devoured by the rats, they seeming to take a savage pleasure in tearing their vanquished enemy piecemeal. Scarcely a vestige of the animal remained behind. The terrier died game, however, for there were about a half a hundred rats left upon the field bleeding and mangled, and as many more more or less injured.

A singular instance of the kindliness of dumb animals to their fellows was noticed at the conclusion of the combat. A number of the combatants had been somewhat lacerated by the teeth of the dog. Their companions gathered in groups around them, licked the blood from their wounds, and then tenderly carried them in their teeth to their nests. The bodies of the slain were as tenderly cared for. One by one they were carried away to a hole in the ice near by, where they were piled up. When all the bodies had been gathered together, the survivors gathered around them, and one of the number, mounting upon the pile of bodies, seemed to deliver a brief funeral oration over the remains of his companions. The utmost stillness reigned among the company during the address of their chief. The whole company then proceeded to gamble their dead companions into the water, where they soon sunk from sight. In half an hour scarce a vestige of the conflict remained. The funeral service was the most extraordinary instance of the kind we have observed, and is well deserving of the study of naturalists. The fight, as a whole, would have delighted sporting men and dog-fanciers. It was highly interesting to the few who observed it.

OUTING THE SPA.—An experienced sea captain writes to the New York Herald that he has been at sea for twenty eight years, and master of a vessel for the last ten years, and during that time he saved the vessel under his command twice by "outing the sea." He writes that when the master of a ship cannot get out of a storm—that is when a ship is disabled and he has to take the heft of the gale—if he has oil on board start two or three gallons on the side of the ship. This will give the ship smooth water to the windward, and then the oil allowed to run drop by drop is all that is required, for as soon as the sea comes in contact with the oil it breaks, and the ship is in smooth water as long as the oil is allowed to run. In 1861, in the heaviest gale of wind I ever saw, I lost my sails then to the scudder, and I know the vessel could not have ridden the sea for an hour if I had not had oil on board. Five gallons of oil lasted me fifty six hours and this saved the vessel, cargo and lives on board. Let ships of heavy tonnage have two iron tanks of forty gallons each, one on each side, with faucet so arranged that the oil can be started at any time, small vessels, two gallon tanks, and all ship's boats tanks of five gallons each, well filled so that in case the ship founders or burns the boats will have oil to smooth the sea in case of a gale. With these tanks of oil on board of ships and a good man for a master—one who knows the laws of storms and handles his ship so as to get it out of the centre of the storm—you will have no more foundering of good ships at sea, the loss of many lives and millions of money."

A correspondent of the Maine Farmer says it is found from careful estimates, that there are fourteen millions of acres still covered with the forests in the State of Maine, and of this forest five millions are supposed to be covered with hemlock timber. The area will yield at least one million cords of hemlock bark, the tanning properties of which reduced to an impershable extract for the manufacture of leather, will command a ready sale at a price equal to $10 per cord, making in the aggregate sixteen hundred millions.

DATES TO APRIL 29.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The Japanese are averse to a demonstration in their honor and will be presented when Seward returns. Their fashions is unknown. The authorities will receive them with all the honors accorded to all friendly nations.

Indications lead to the impression that the exhibit of public debt next month will show a reduction of between five and six millions. The receipts from customs and Internal Revenue taxes during the month has been about twenty-eight millions.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The Times' special hopes for a reduction of the public debt to two billions and a half in the future is whether the Nati nal debt shall be paid. The President assumes his old plebian role, and affects to be a great enemy of aristocracies. He quotes the late slave aristocracy, with its three thousand millions of property, and insultingly compares it with the Federal bondholders—an aristocracy based on over two thousand five hundred millions of National securities held in the Northern States. The slave aristocracy has been destroyed and an aristocracy of National creditors has taken its place. In the language of the correspondent, "The aristocracy based on negro property disappears at the Southern end; but only to reappear in an oligarchy of bonds and National securities in the States which suppressed the rebellion." The President then proceeds to stab public faith in the credit of the Republic—to destroy confidence and lead off in favor of repudiation. The South is writhing in poverty, and the President envies the opulence and prosperity of the North. He talks like an agrarian leveler. He would rub out and commence anew, thus placing his sympathizing friends on a financial equality with the hateful Radicals. He refers to history and learnedly remarks that of all aristocracies that of mere wealth is the most odious, pompous and tyrannical. The demagogue thus appeals to the prej

British Columbia—Acquisition of Territory.

A few days since it was announced that negotiations were pending between our Government and Great Britain for the purchase by the United States of Vancouver Island and the western part of British Columbia, thus giving us an exclusive right to the northern coast of the Pacific. Later advises render this report improbable, but it is a noticeable fact that the reported proposition for the transfer was favorably received in Victoria. The News, one of the papers published at that place, discusses the subject in a well considered article, in which it expresses the opinion that the cession of that territory to the United States would be advantageous to the interests of its people. We have seen nothing in the Colonist on the subject, and therefore conclude that it has modified its opinion somewhat since last year when it grew furious at a proposition of this nature, pronouncing it to be "flat treason" and its advocates "wile traitors." The News while declaring that "the Queen has no more loyal subjects than those who have sought a home in that distant appendage of her empire," also says:

It would be dishonest to disguise the fact that such a transfer, brought about by peaceable negotiation, would be received by a majority of the people of this colony, of every nationality, with a feeling of unmingled satisfaction. The vast distance which separates us from the mother country, and the inapplicability of the system of government under which we live to the wants of the people and the development of the latent resources of the country, instead of being productive of that feeling of attachment to British institutions and British supremacy which ought to characterize the people, has produced the very opposite effect.

The News goes on to say that British Columbia is badly and expensively governed; that "the popular will is trodden under foot, and the people's money squandered by a brigade of officials over whom the people have no control, and in whom they repose not the slightest confidence." It is argued with much force that from the position of British Columbia and the wants and relations of its people, the true interests of that territory demand annexation. "To Great Britain," says the News, "this country is no value whatever. The distance which separates us from the parent land is so great as to render the connection useless to us and unprofitable to her." That the territory would be of great use to us, especially since our acquisition of Russian America, there can be no doubt. We need it to complete the arrondissement of our Pacific territories; and there is every reason why the people of British Columbia should in turn desire to be united with us rather than continue in their present connection. But we do not expect Great Britain to release that territory. Though it may be of no use to her, the fact that it would be of use to us will be a sufficient motive to cause her to retain it. She has not been in the habit of ceding territory in this way to other great powers, and such an act at this time would be contrary to her traditions and her whole policy.

It has often been asserted that the Republican party is inflexibly opposed to further extensions of our national territory, and invidious comparisons are often drawn between its past policy in this regard and that of the Democratic party. But the opposition of the Republican party, and of the Whig party before it, was not simply against a further enlargement of our boundaries, but against any further extension of the area of slavery. This was the reason why the acquisition of more territory towards the South met with such strenuous opposition. And that the area of slavery might be extended, formed the reason why a large party kept clamoring for more territory. A Democratic Administration went to war with Mexico for the sake of a piece of disputed territory in Texas; but at the same time easily yielded our claims to what is now British Columbia. The reason was that the slave power demanded the one, but had no use for the other. And now that slavery is extinguished, the Democratic party has no special interest in any further enlargement of our national domain. All future acquisitions will be secured to freedom and free institutions; therefore those who once opposed the policy of acquiring more territory because every such acquisition was demanded to make more room for the "peculiar institution," will hereafter raise no objection to the policy of increasing our territorial limits. The mission of republicanism is to take possession of this continent, and, (considered in reference to this matter) there is much more meaning in the phrase "manifest destiny," than many will allow. In this view the phrase is not a mere platitude, but becomes a great truth expressive of the hopes and wants and purposes of those who believe in the right, and have faith in the ability of the people to govern themselves.

The following is from A. Johnson's Oregon organ. From its raving incoherency and the truculent spirit it evinces, it is evidently inspired by the same influences which on many occasions within the last two years have produced such choice specimens of White House oratory. It is addressed to the terrible "Radicals:"

You have triumphed over a brave, though misguided foe; you may glory in their humiliation and suffering, for that is your nature; you may taunt them with their failure in a cause to which they sacrificed everything but honor, for cowards always insult the weak and helpless, but when you resort to lawless measures to gratify your fiendish hates look to yourselves, for as sure as God reigns and and judgment has not fled to brutish beasts, you are treasuring up for yourselves a fearful retribution which may fall, like the sufferings of the South, upon both the innocent and the guilty.

Here seems to be an attempt to unite the two characters of a Miss Nancy and a Cassandra in one person. The above shows what success has attended the attempt. Bah! Can't somebody "conciliate" this piping crone?

Good Confederate Democrats cannot avoid now and then making a savage thrust at our patriotic Generals for the energy they exhibited in crushing the rebellion. The remembrance of these things is still irritating to the Democratic mind, notwithstanding A. Johnson has been busy applying lenitives, "conservative" balms, and a general variety of emollients to mitigate the soreness. The Owyhee Bulletin exhibits its spirit in this way:

U. S. Grant, in honor of the remarkable time he made in retreating on a certain occasion, should be his highness, the Duke of Belmont. P. H. Sheridan, for the barns and smoke houses he burned and destroyed, to be yclept the Earl of Shenandoah. W. T. Sherman, for his ability in lighting large fires, should be the Count of Atlanta. Beast Butler, owing to his penchant for spoons, should be styled the Lord of the Dresser, and so on ad infinitum.

THE LAST OF THE PIRATE SUMTER.—News from England states that the ex-rebel cruiser Sumter had foundered near the Dagger bank. Since the collapse of the rebellion the Sumter, under the name of Gibraltar, has been employed as a trading steamer by a Hull (England) firm, and was on a voyage from Helsingfors to Hull when she sprang a leak under her boilers and sunk gradually in smooth water. The crew made their escape.

The internal revenue tax collected from the ten rebel States during the year 1866 was less by twelve millions of dollars than that collected from the little State of Rhode Island. So after all, this does not show any great amount of "taxation without representation."

MIDSHIPMEN.—The midshipmen of the U. S. navy are first appointed to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, where they pass through a four years' course of studies, and receive an annual pay of $500. After graduating, they are required to serve two years at sea, after which, if they pass the necessary examination upon the duties of their profession, they are entitled to promotion as "passed midshipmen." They are then in the line of promotion to the higher grades of the profession, beginning at "master," and they generally find it terribly slow work getting to the top of the ladder.

A farmer on Columbia Slough has discovered a new mode of prevention, birds or squirrels from taking grain up after it is sown. A little coal oil applied to the seed—enough to give the grain the scent of the oil—will effectually protect it from all birds or marauders. No animal will touch the grain after it has contracted the odor of the oil. Even the bugs dislike it. The process is said not to do the smallest injury to the seed. A pint of oil is sufficient for several bushels of grain.

The Enterprise says of the Victor Salt Works: These works situate in the vicinity of Mt. Helen began operations on Monday last. The capacity of the Works will admit of the manufacture of 3,000 pounds of salt per day. The Company having this matter in charge have expended about $20,000, but they have established the fact that the article is as much one place in the world that can produce an article of salt equalling their in manufacture hence the venture was a most successful one. It is a matter of congratulation for all Oregonians.

FROM IDAHO

We obtain the following from the Idaho City World of the 20th ult

MINING COMMENCED

Active mining operations were commenced on Moore's and Elk a creeks, and on Bonum Hill opposite this city, early in the week, and in some of the claims the work is to be prosecuted night and day with hydraulic force. The sections named present a busy appearance, and certainly a gladsome one, for, after the long and tedious winter—a suspension of labor for over four months—all hands are rejoiced to get to work again, and the dust soon to be realized from their labor will produce pleasant sensations and insure substantial benefits to the many among whom it will be diffused in the regular transactions of trade. In a week or two more the mines in every portion of the Basin will be ready to work.

FROM PIONEER.

Jas Hone, of Pioneer, informs us that some of the claims in that section have already been opened, and that by next week nearly all the miners will begin work for the season. Splendid success has lately cheered the Elkhorn Company. A very rich vein has been struck, from which about 200 tons of fine ore is already taken out. The mill has been crushing for a week or more, and a big clean up is expected.

FROM GOLD HILL.

This comparatively fresh mining region, across the high divide which hems in the Basin, and the adjacent mining district, of which Banner City is the chief camp, promises to be of much importance during the mining season just opening. Donley's ditch, leading water from Crooked river into the placers of Gold Hill, a distance of twelve miles, is completed, and will supply a length of two miles of ground which has in nearly every part of it yielded from good to very rich prospects. From a gentleman who has spent some time there prospecting, we learn that there are good diggings for several hundred men, and for many years. Donley's ditch has sufficient capacity to furnish water to all the claims that may be worked, and it is expected that there will be a good sized camp there this year. The deep snow is rapidly disappearing there and at Banner City, and the trail thither will soon be in good traveling condition. Gold Hill is about twenty-five miles from this city.

TAXES IN ADA COUNTY.

The rate of taxation in Ada county for the current year upon each $100 worth of real or personal property, is as follows: Territorial, 10 cents; county general, 15 cents; jail, 5 cents; hospital, 2 cents; school, 3 cents—a total of $3 75. Added are the following per capita taxes: poll, $4; hospital, $3, and road, $3—a total of $10.

MR. CHARLES S. WESTCOTT, of Elizabeth, N. J. who is well acquainted with the leading sewing machines, states "I think the Grover & Baker is best adapted to family use, for the reason that it is most easily kept in order, and makes a stitch which does not wear itself in two by the direct strain of the threads upon each other. I have had a shuttle or lock-stitch machine in use in my family, and abandoned it because it was more difficult for a woman to keep it in order, and because the seam made by it would in a short time rip in separate places by the wearing of the threads upon each other."

The subscriptions to the Astoria lot sale are so far taken that the distribution has been definitely fixed for Wednesday, the 15th day of May. Agents have been appointed in most of the towns, and H. Among the prizes is a homestead and three lots worth $5000, which some one will get for $50. There are also three lots valued at $1000 each; six at $500; eight at $250; thirty-four at $200; fifty-one at $150; two hundred at $100, and one hundred and twenty-four shares consist of two lots each; twenty-two of four lots, and twenty-one of six lots each, and about one-third of the shares are lots worth from $100 down to $50. No ticket will draw less than a $50 lot. The purchase money is payable on delivery of a warrantee deed for the lots drawn; but special arrangements can be made by addressing the proprietor, O. THE PAIN KILLER.—Rev. T. Allen, writing from Tavoy, Burmah, says: "Within the past four years I have used and dispensed of about five hundred bottles, but am now out. Please send me a fresh supply as soon as you can—say two hundred bottles. I dare not be without it myself, and there are endless calls for it, both by Burmans and Karens. I always take it with me into the jungles, and have frequent occasion to use it, both on myself and others. One night, while sleeping in an open Zayats, I was awoke by a most excruciating pain in my foot. On examination, I found I had been bitten by a centipede. I immediately applied the Pain Killer, and found instant relief. In less than an hour I was again asleep."

Rev. Mr Hibbard, writing from Burmah to his father, says: "I have used Davis' Pain Killer for coughs, colds, summer complaints, burns, and for the sting of scorpions, with uniform success. We always keep it where we can lay our hands on it in the dark, if need be." ap26dlw

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world, and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the minting and commercial value of bullion.

Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS.

One-eighth of one per cent. (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1,000, and two dollars for any smaller sum. Returns made in twenty-four hours.

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS.

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,000, and one-eighth of one per cent. for all amounts over that sum, and one per cent. on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty-four hours.

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS.

—On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce

On bullion from 300½@600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 600½@750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce.

On bullion from 750½@940½ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce.

Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage. But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars.

FOR COINING GOLD.

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent—and which is paid by us to that institution. But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us.

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS.

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint.

Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing, will be cashed by us at the highest market rates.

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express.

CHARGES AT U. S. BRANCH MINT.

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint, we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution:

For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 5 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 300½@600 parts gold, 5 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 600½@750 parts gold, 7 cents per ounce.

For refining bullion from 750½@930 parts gold, 11 cents per ounce

For refining bullion from 930½@940½ parts gold, 14 cents per ounce

The charge for coinage is half of one per cent, and the charge for making fine silver bars, the same.

Comparing the net value of deposits for coinage, with the proceeds of unparted gold bars sold in the market—assuming that the bars have cost ½ of one per cent—they must be sold at the following per rates to equal the return which would have been made had they been deposited for coinage:

$50 per to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents

$45 per to equal Mint return, at refining charge of 14 cents

$65 per to equal San Francisco A. & R. Works return, at refining charge of 8 cents.

ARMY ORDER.—The following is the text of an order issued April 25th, from the Headquarters of the Department of the Columbia, Gen. Steele commanding:

General Orders No. 15: 1. Officers arriving in this Department will immediately report in person or by letter to these Headquarters, giving the date of their arrival, the number and date of the order assigning them to duty, and such other information as will enable this office to take proper action in their cases.

II. The following section from an Act of Congress, is hereby published for the information of all concerned:

ACT IN RELATION TO HARBORING OR CONCEALING DESERTERS.

Sec. 36. And be it further enacted, That every person not subject to the rules and articles of war, who shall procure or entice a soldier in the service of the United States to desert; or who shall harbor, conceal, or give employment to a deserter, or carry him away, or aid in carrying him away, knowing him to be such; or who shall purchase from any soldier his arms, equipments, ammunition, uniform, clothing, or any part thereof; or any captain or commanding officer of any ship or vessel, or any superintendent or any conductor of any railroad, or any other public conveyance, carrying away any soldier or one of his crew, or otherwise, knowing him to be deserter; or shall refuse to deliver him up to the order of his commanding officer, shall upon legal conviction, be fined, at the discretion of any court having cognizance of the same, in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and he shall be imprisoned not exceeding two years, nor less than six months. (Act approved March 3, 1863.)

GOVERNMENT WAGONS.—Messrs. Wallace & Miller of this city have a contract for building forty freight wagons and four carts, for the chief Quarter-master of this Department, ten of which are completed and will be delivered to-day. The others are to be completed and delivered by the 1st of July next. Each wagon is made to carry 8,000 pounds, and judging from those we saw yesterday they are good for 10,000 pounds on any road. The wagons are being constructed mostly of Eastern States' timber. Messrs. W & M. carry on all the branches of the business—wood work, ironing and painting, and employ, in the various departments at present, fourteen hands. Thus far on their contract they have finished ten wagons in fifteen days, or the rate of one wagon each day and a half. Taken from the timber in the rough to the last touch of the paint brush, this is rather like driving things. They do it for each wagon $345, coin.

RECORDER'S COURT.—Yesterday, in the Recorder's court, before John and Wm. Daly were examined on a charge of assaulting Charles Devine with intent to kill. William Feiser and Henry Ludwick were joined in another charge of the same import. The evidence showed that on last Thursday, Devine went into the brewery in East Portland and raised a row with two or three of the partners and finally drew a large pocket knife and made a cut or two at Peter John, when he was knocked down by one of the others and pretty roughly handled generally. His head was severely cut and bruised. It appearing, that the assault charged was in self defence and to prevent the stabbing of John, the defendants were all discharged. The prosecution was conducted by Messrs. Hill and Mallory, and the defence by Hodgkinson, Dolph and Johnson.

CIRCUIT COURT—SHATTUCK, JUDGE.—The following proceedings were had yesterday, April 30th:

S. Franklin Ausmus vs John W. Kern; action on promissory note; judgement for plaintiff, by default for $368.40.

Wesley Reed vs W. K. Ish; continued till next term, with leave to answer within two weeks.

State of Oregon vs James Gill, two cases; bail reduced to $150, in each case; recognizance filed and defendant released from custody of the sheriff.

Geo. H. Williams and J. J. Huffman vs Delia Delachenaye; report of referee confirmed, and judgment in accordance therewith for plaintiffs, for $401.60.

Thos. Daly vs F. N. Blanchett; settled and action dismissed.

Catherine Emery vs John Emery, action for divorce; on motion of plaintiff's attorney, defendant ordered to deposit $75 coin, to enable plaintiff to prosecute suit.

PACIFIC MARKET.—Mr. A. H Johnson has concentrated his business at the Pacific Market, North Front street, where he has the best meat market in the city. He has been in the butchering business in this city for fifteen years and has come to understand it about as well as any man in the country, Mr. Cross not excepted. Fat meats, nicely dressed and neatly cut, suit customers, and Mr. Johnson is up to the mark every time in each of these respects.

ICE CREAM.—Mr. Nixon last evening opened an ice cream saloon, on First street between Alder and Morrison—a very pretty place and supplied with such luxuries as ice cream as to make one indulge in. His ice cream—the first of the season—are about as nice as the most "Cafe aprobate could ask. We know that for we tried one. He intends to keep his saloon supplied with ice cream in refreshments, except "nperitinous and malt liquors, wine and cider"—such as are prescribed by the Good Templar's creed.

WILLAMETTE FREIGHTS.—Arrived per steamer Alert from Oregon City, Tuesday April 30th: 1,077 qr sks flour, 140 bgs feed, 84 boxes produce, 30 bf bbls do., 418 gunnies oats, 20 sks wool, 12 pkgs mdse, 60 boxes apples, lot sad wood lumber, 80 bale wrapping paper, 3 cases goods, 1 bag wheat, 3 bales furs, 1 chest.

REMOVED.—The Bank of British Columbia was yesterday removed to Rawley's building on the corner of Stark and First streets. The wooden building lately occupied, will burn, is to be removed to give place to a stone front, the one of the old land marks of Portland.

THE TWENTY-SIXTH OF APRIL.—The 26th ult., the 46th anniversary of the introduction of Odd Fellowship into the United States, was celebrated in Victoria, with the usual ceremonies. The order seems to have observed the day in all parts of the Pacific coast.

THE REMARK.—This steamer came down last evening from Oregon City to take the place, for to-day, of the Alert, which is chartered for the Good Templars' pic nic. She brought no freight except a small lot of lumber for the company's wharf.

RETURN TO VANCOUVER TO-DAY.—Captain Trumbull announces us to say that the Fannie Troup will not leave for Vancouver, this afternoon till 5 o'clock, in order to accommodate those who wish to attend the Firemen's ball at Vancouver.

REMOVED.—L. T. Schultz, dealer in musical instruments, sheet music, etc., has removed to 111 Front street, next door to Waller Bros' carpet store. John H. Miller, dealer in watches and jewelry, has also removed to the same place.

TREASURY RECEIPTS AND EXPORTS.—During the month of April, the amount of treasure received at Portland, by Wells, Fargo & Co., was $170,000. During the same time there was exported the sum of $159,000

"Trade is a Little Dull"

We find the following spicy little sketch in the Boston Commercial Bulletin. It forcibly illustrates that "trade is a little dull," and also that portion of the business community known as "drummers," or commercial travelers, despite their inexhaustible resources and inventions, are often obliged to yield to the pressure of these stagnant times. The Bulletin says:

One of these gentlemen who has recently returned from a trip for the Thistle Bros. & Co., of this city, did not show a very large exhibit of orders to balance the liberal expense account allowed him by the firm, and Thistle, after looking over his return, said:

"Rataplan, I am afraid you did not approach the dealers in the right way. I used to be very successful in this line. Now, just suppose me to be Bigher, of Sellout, Illinois, and show me the way you introduce the house."

Accordingly, Rataplan stepped out of the counting room and re entered, hat in hand, inquiring, "Is Bigher in?"

"That is my name," said Thistle, urbanely.

"My name is Rataplan, sir, I represent the house of Thistle Bros & Co., of Boston."

Thistle, in his character of Western merchant, here rose, offered the salesman a chair, and expressed his pleasure with seeing him.

"I am stopping with Overcharge, at the Stock um House, and I have a fine unbroken lot of samples which I would like to show you. think we can offer you some special advantages," etc., which Rataplan delivered himself in a professional style.

"Very well, very well," said Thistle, "I don't see but what you understand the way to get at customers."

"Excuse me, Mr. Thistle," said Rataplan, "I am afraid you do not understand the style of the Western merchants just now, suppose you change places with me and repeat this rehearsal."

"Certainly," said Thistle, and picking up his hat, went out. Returning, he found Rataplan with his chair tilted back, hat cocked fiercely over his right eye, his heels planted on Thistle's polished desk, and a lighted cigar between his teeth.

"Is Mr. Bigher in?"

"Yes, he is," responded Rataplan, blowing a cloud of pure Connecticut into Thistle's eyes. "Who in the h—l are you?"

"I represent the house of Thistle Bros. & Co.," said the astonished employer, coughing out about a quart of smoke from his throat.

"The blazes you do; are you one of that concern?"

"No, sir, I am not," said Thistle.

"Well, it's d—d lucky for you that you are not, for I've had two drummers to a customer in my store for the last two months, and if I could get hold of one of the blarsted fools that send them out here at this time, I'm darned if I wouldn't boot him clean out of the town of Sellout."

"That'll do, that'll do, Mr. Rataplan," said Thistle; "I have no doubt you did the best you could for the interest of the house." Trade is a little dull.

A CHILD'S QUESTION.—A Bachelor under Fire.—A man who is not among those reported as "head of a family," gives the following account of an hour with a little boy left under his charge, and of the questions he had to answer:

The other day, in an unguarded moment, I accepted the charge and custody of a young gentleman who wore half gaiters and a Charles II. hat and feather. His sponsors in baptism had given him one name—circumstances another. His latter appellation "Buster." His age, as he informed me was going on seven. When he made up his mind that we were to be left together, he eyed me malevolently a moment, and immediately commenced the following system of torture:

What was my name and my brother's and my father's name, and why? Did I have any little boys? Why didn't I have any little boys? What was the reason, if I didn't have any little boys, I didn't have any little girls? All this put as one question, with no stops, and a gradual inflection.

Was them buttons gold in my sleeve, and why? How much did they cost? Did they cost one hundred and fifty-five dollars? If they didn't cost one hundred and fifty dollars, what would be the cost of a good house with gold furniture and a gold stair case? Did I ever see a house with them auriferous peculiarities?

No.

What then would be the cost of a silver carriage and gold harness? What then would be the cost of a golden carriage with iron harness? and why?

Did I know why flies walked on the ceiling?

Could I walk on the ceiling? Not if I had one man to hold my head and one my legs? Why couldn't I? Couldn't I if I was a giant? Did I ever see a giant? Was I personally acquainted with a giant? Where them nat?

Was it to New York? Was it a million of miles? Fifty million of miles? If he, Buster, had a balloon, and should start off, would he get there to-night? nor next week? and why?

I soon found out that this way was a simple form of closing all questions, like the usual note of interrogation.

What was my business, and did I know any stories? and why?

This afforded a plan of relief. I instantly started in the history of my previous life and adventures. I invested all my relations and friends with supernatural attributes, and made myself a creation something between a Genii and Robinson Crusoe. I made the most astonishing voyages and saw the most remarkable occurrences. I drew liberally from the Arabian Nights and Baron Munchausen. Whenever I saw the open mouth "address itself to motion as though 'twould speak," I brought in a Genii, or a casket of diamonds, and took away the unhappy child's breath! In the midst of an animated description of the Hearhound Islands and adventures in the dark caves, where candles hung in long stalactites, the parents happily returned. I hurriedly received their thanks and left. But I have the private satisfaction of knowing that all that pent up torrent of questions burst on the unhappy father, and that geographical inquiries regarding the locality of "Blasting Island," the "Blanc Mange Archipelago," and the "Valley of Cream Cakes" will be henceforth his deadful lot to meet and answer.

IMMENSITY OF THE MINING INTEREST.—The Nevada Transcript presents the following facts relating to the mining interest of the Pacific coast; with a few remarks on the cause of failure by those who attempt to make the business remunerative:

It is estimated that there are four hundred mills for crushing quarts and cement in California, forty in Idaho, thirty in Montana, and fourteen in Oregon, which have cost nearly $10,000,000. The State of Nevada, according to the report of the State Mineralogist, has one hundred and thirty-four mills, many of them the finest on the coast. Add to the cost of these the large amount invested in hydraulic mining, and an idea may be formed of the immensity of the mining interest. As the processes of working are improved the profits will be increased, and there is every probability that each year will be marked by an increased yield of treasure. In mining, as in all other business, there will be failures so long as bad management and ignorance prevail among men, but when the proper agencies are employed the rule will be the success of the miner. We have ever maintained that the occupation of mining was as safe as occupations generally are, and that in many cases the profits were larger. The causes of failure have, in most instances, been ignorance, improvidence and extravagance in the management of mines. The miner of early days who owned a claim supposed he possessed a sure fortune, and generally lived far beyond his income, until his own folly brought him to bankruptcy, and this failure was charged to the "uncertainty of mining." These erroneous ideas about mining are fast being removed, and with a more certain knowledge of the business and well directed labor, men are proving that mining like other pursuits, is remunerative when properly conducted.

BYRON'S MAID OF ATHENS.—In speaking of Athens, perhaps I ought not to omit the Maid of Athens, immortalized by Byron—now Mrs Black, of the Piræus. The maiden name of this lady was Theresa Maria. She was one of three sisters, all of whom were great beauties in their day. One of them is the wife of Mr. Pituky, the well known Superintendent of Antiquities at Athens. The third, I believe, is not living. Lord Byron's lines were written in 1810—forty years ago; and forty years make a considerable difference in the appearance of both man and woman, so that the language of the noble poet cannot be expected to apply in all respects to the present day. It is a common thing for travelers in Greece to call on Mrs Black with no other introduction than Love me as I am again. Not thinking this accidental coincidence any ground for so impertinent a proceeding, it was a long time before I had the pleasure of meeting the lady, as she lives in Piræus and now seldom makes her appearance in Athens. But I was invited one evening to take tea and pass the night at the house of a friend in Piræus. I found, on arriving there, that the family of Mr. Black were expected, and no other guests.

They soon came in—Mr. and Mrs. Black and their daughter, a young lady of eighteen or twenty years, and I had the felicity of sitting the whole evening on a sofa between the old Maid of Athens and the young Maid of Athens—a highly poetical situation, as it seemed to me with the beauty of the past on one hand and the beauty of the present on the other. Certainly Mrs Black shows traces of the loveliness which inspired the muse of Byron and if she did not, the magnificent beauty of the daughter is sufficient and most satisfactory demonstration that it once existed in the mother. Let me add that Mrs Black is an excellent house keeper her house being one of the best ordered in all Greece. But if there is one thing in which she surpasses the rest of her sex it is the art of pickling olives. The first time I tasted one of her olives at the house of a friend I could not restrain an exclamation of surprise at their delicious flavor. 'Those olives' responded my entertainer, "were picked by the fair hands of the Maid of Athens." A day or two afterwards I received a jar of the fruit from the maid of Athens which I keep as a precious memorial with a fragment of the Parthenon and a cane cut from the olive grove of Plato.—Felton's Lecture on Greece.

A man named Mooney was killed by wolves in White county, Texas, lately. He had been out bear hunting, and in killing a bear got some of the animal's blood upon his clothes, which the wolves scented. Of the pack which attacked him he killed three and was then overpowered.

The time occupied in a trip from the Missouri river to Salt Lake City now is only eight days. Three of them are occupied on the trip from Omaha to Denver, and the remaining five from Denver to Salt Lake. In this eight days' travel there are three hundred miles of railroad and nine hundred of staging.

An Act has been reported in the Massachusetts Legislature which requires that proprietors of public halls shall secure safe and suitable egress to protect life and limb, in case of alarm or danger. If this is not done the authorities may prohibit the use of such a hall, on penalty of a fine ranging from $100 to $500.

I. C. Whitmore, of Norwich, started for New York to take the steamer Andalusia for New Orleans, which was burned off Cape Hatteras, with nearly all hands lost, and got as far as Stamford, when a presentiment of impending danger, which he had felt for several days, came upon him so strongly and so vividly, that he was induced to return home, abandon the intended trip, and thus saved his life.

The Blackstone Manufacturing Company, at Blackstone, Massachusetts, have recently started 10,000 new spindles, and now have in operation 55,000 spindles and 1,200 looms in the manufacture of printing cloths and sheeting, which require a force of 1,000 hands. The motive power of one of the factories, equivalent to 20,000 spindles, is conveyed by a single belt, which is 200 feet long, 30 inches wide, weighs 900 pounds and required the hides of 80 oxen to make it.

General Howard, in a recent letter relating to the education of the freedmen, states that in his endeavors to execute the trust committed to his charge, his desire has been rather to encourage every effort from whatever quarter it came, and concentrate as much force as possible, to overcome the blind prejudice and formidable opposition to the education of the colored people, than simply to establish a New England system. Florida has already a common school system. Alabama has also recently passed a law inaugurating a liberal system of education. And other States will soon follow the example set them by these two.

WHERE DOES THE DAY BEGIN?—The first beginning of the day is somewhere between America and Asia. The precise locality of that somewhere has not been determined. If the Pacific ocean were thickly populated with men, the place of the beginning of the day would be a matter of consequence, and would probably be settled by statute. The day would start from a meridian line extending from pole to pole, and the longitude of this day line would be so accurately fixed that a man might stand astride it and realize the paradox of having one foot in Monday and the other in Tuesday. Many of the readers of this will have long enough to hear this subject discussed in national councils.

We propose now to show that Monday or any other week day is 48 hours long; we mean that during the whole of 48 hours Monday is on earth somewhere to be found. The Monday of this city is of course 24 hours long, but before and after our Monday there is Monday in some other quarter. When Monday begins in New York, there have been three hours of Monday in London, and for three hours after our Monday ends there will be Monday in San Francisco. Thus between these places Monday lasts 18 hours. Now, if the day line were at our antipodes, Monday would begin three 12 hours before ours, and end 12 hours after ours. Thus, for the space of 48 hours the earth is not rid of Monday. The fact may be illustrated in another way. Suppose we are at the day line. Monday there begins, and in 24 hours also comes Tuesday. But just west (half an inch if you please) Monday began only an instant before it ended east of the line. The Monday east of the line is 24 hours long, and west of the line is the same length, and in all, Monday lasts 48 hours.—Scientific American.

ANECDOTE OF CURRAN.—A farmer attending a fair with a hundred pounds in his pocket, took the precaution of depositing it in the hands of the public housekeeper which he stopped. Having occasion for it shortly afterward, he resorted to mine host for payment. But the landlord, too deep for the countryman, wondered what he meant, and was quite sure that no such sum had ever been deposited in his hands by the astonished rustic. After several ineffectual appeals to the recollection, and finally to the honor of Bardolph, the farmer applied to Curran for advice in the matter.

"Have patience, my friend," said the counsel. "Speak to the landlord civilly; tell him you have left your money with some other person. Take a friend with you and lodge with him another hundred in the presence of your friend, and then come to me."

He did so, and then returned to his legal friend.

"And now I can't see how I am going to be better off for this, if I get my second hundred back again? but how is that done?"

"Go, ask him for it when he is alone," said Curran.

"Ay, sir, asking won't do. I'm afraid not."

"Never mind, take my advice," said the counsel, "do as I bid you and then return to me."

The farmer returned with his hundred, glad to find that safe in his possession. "Now, sir, I must be content, but I don't see as I am better off."

"Well, then," said the counsel, "now take your friend with you, and ask the landlord for the hundred pounds your friend saw you leave with him."

We need not add that the wily landlord found that he had been taken off his guard, while our honest friend returned to thank his counsel, exultingly, with both hundreds in his pocket.
